ATTEMPT TO SWINDLE

MRS. ARCHBALD'S NAME FORGED

innocent Messenger Boy is Made a Catspaw of the Sharper, Who Used the Private Note Paper of Mrs. James Archbald-Mr. Coursen Too Shrewd to Be Trapped-The Man Eludes Arrest.

A clever attempt at swindle was made yesterday afternoon upon E G. Coursen by the use of an innocent mesenger boy and the forged endorsement senger boy and the forgest endorsement of Mrs. James Archbeid's name to a worthless check for $47.

About 5 o'clock a postal telegraph boy handed Mr. Courses, at his store, a sealed envelope containing a check for $47 made payable to Mrs. James Archbeild's order, and endorsed with law name. An accompanying latter her name. An accompanying letter, written in a feminine hand, stated that Mr. Archbald was out of town, the banks were closed and Mrs. Archbald, whose name was signed, would appreciate Mr. Coursen's kindness if be would cash the check and send the money by the boy. To add to the plausibility of the letter, it contained at its head in raised colored letters the address 0424 Jefferson avenue," and was an exact facsimile of Mrs. Archbald's private note paper.

THE SCHEME WAS PLAUSIBLE. The boy is reply to a question said the note was handed him by Thomas Archbald, Mrs. Archball's son, at the corner of Mulcerry and Vine street. It was afterward learned that the call for the boy was received by telephone from Chittenden's drug store. The sharper sent the call, met the boy, gave him the note as stated and evidently ntended to intercept him on his reurn with the money.

Mr. Coursen's suspicions were arronsed, but he put $47 in his pocket and went with the messenger to Mr. Archbald's residence. Thomas Archbald was there, as was also his father, who according to the note was out of town. The letter and check were proonneed as forgaries,

The messenger was unable to give a good description of the man who gave him the note, as the fellow had hurried through with the transaction with the apparent intention of not giving the messenger a chance to describe him minutely afterward. He wore a wellfitting long cutsway black coat, light tronsers, brown derby and tan shoes The boy could not describe other partlemars of his attire or remember his facial appearance.

The police were notified and imme-Coursen drove from depot to depot, took the boy with aim to Carbondale im. Up to a late hour he had not been caught.

WAS IT PROFESSIONAL WORK? The fellow must either be a resident of Scranton, or he has been particularly fortunate is learning the movements city as the forged letter stated. How obtained and the information that Mr Coursen is the family's grocer are mysteries for the police to solve. It all shows that the swindler is an adept at his banco business or is an amateur of great ability.

Evidently the plan was timed to a nicely, as many trains enter and leave the city within a hour after the attempted swindle.

THEY PLAYED WITH POWDER.

North End Boys Have an Exciting Adventure-Two Seriously Injured. About 8 o'clock last evening five boys who by some means had become pos-sessed of a tomato can half full of blasting powder, went to the Electric park, and in some manner which they cannot expain, the powder exploded, resulting in the five being more or less injured. A TRIBUNE reporter visited the house of Daniel Lewis, Putnam street, whose 16-year-old son, William, was probably the ment seriously in-jured, and found the young man sufering intense pain and showing dreadful effects of the explosion.

The skin in places was blown from the flesh and the greater part of the body was affected. The eye brows had disappeared and the features had been greatly changed.

Tommy Murphy, another of the boys, who is about 12 years of age, son of Martin Murphy, of Warron street, was seen by the reporter and was covered with fiannel bandages. His condition is not so serious as Lewis' but it will take some time for both to recover.

The other three boys are not so seriously hurt and escaped more fortunately the effects of the explosion.

BICYCLE THIEF IN JAIL

Lawson Will Not Have to Pay Any Board Bill for Some Time. Clark D. Lawson, the smooth swindler, was taken from police headquarters yes-terday morning to Alderman Fitzsimmons' office for a hearing. His victims were present to prosecute

New York and trade it there for a lighter one.

He never came back with the pay or that wheel. The evidence of F. C. Hand, Otto Courad and M. Biddieman was heard in their case; and of C. M. Truman, of the Westminster, and the clerk at the hotel with regard to the beard and sundry bill owed by Lawson. During the hearing owed by Lawson. During the hearing there was not a more self-possessed person than the defendant. He apparently seemed to enjoy the proceedings.

Attorney Giver moved to discharge the defendant on the ground that a prima facie case had not been presented.

Alderman Fizzimmons refused the motion and ordered that a total of $3,500, to cover the three cases, be furnished as bail. Being unable to foot that amount Lawso, was committed to the county jail,
